Mapping the Communities Agenda in Canada An Inventory of Action, Resources, Programs and Policies

Who is driving the community agenda in Canada? Where are the models for building community and neighbourhood vitality? Who is thinking about it, promoting it, and resourcing it? These are the questions that the leadership of Action for Neighbourhood Change has asked us to address. This inventory identifies the principle national, regional, and local activities, researchers, funders, programs and policies that support and advance the 'Communities Agenda' in Canada. For the purpose of this research Communities Agenda is defined as:

Policies and initiatives that are intended to contribute to building and sustaining strong and resilient communities (including neighbourhoods) in Canada, where resilience refers to the capacity to mobilize resources in order to maintain quality of life in the face of change.<sup>1</sup>

The inventory is divided into four sections:

- A. Organizations, Initiatives and Networks
- B. Research Centres, Think Tanks, and Foundations
- C. Government Programs and Policies
- D. Quality of Life and Impact Measurement Projects

A. Organizations, Initiatives and Networks:

There is a wide range of local initiatives, projects, and citizens groups aimed at strengthening neighbourhoods and community vitality and there is a great deal to be learned from their rich experiences, passion, drive, and innovation. In this mapping exercise, however, we focused on organizations, initiatives, and networks that were largely Pan-Canadian in scope or were part of a broader-based initiative that was taking place in more than one location within a province or territory. The inventory is by no means comprehensive but it does provide a portrait of the current landscape on which the communities agenda is evolving.

While these initiatives differ in terms of their scope, nature, and source of funding, they seem to share the following common goals to:

- Improve the wellbeing of citizens
- Involve residents in local decision-making/planning
- Create cohesion within the neighbourhood/community
- Strengthen the relationships between the neighbourhood and governments

- Establish linkages among service providers from the public, private, and voluntary sectors
- Build Community Capacity (leadership, organizational development)
- Increase Community Engagement/Civic Participation
- Facilitate Access to Services and Integrate (government) departmental planning/programming<sup>2</sup>

B. Research Centres, Think Tanks, and Foundations

There are many individual researchers from a variety of disciplines who have done work on community and neighbourhood development. This inventory, however, identifies organized research units within academic institutions, independent think tanks, and private foundations which have ongoing activities or have demonstrated a longer term interest in the communities agenda.

C. Government Programs and Policies

This section was more challenging to complete, given the recent changes in government (federal and in a number of provinces) the reorganization of many departments, and the specific timing of the research, during peak holiday time and before budgets have been confirmed for the upcoming fiscal year. Here we provided a sampling of key programs and policies in a number of provinces, territories, and municipalities, as well as in several federal government departments.

D. Quality of Life and Impact Measurement Projects

The Neighbourhood Vitality Index, being developed through Action for Neighbourhood Change, is an example of a collaborative process that continues to engage individuals and institutions in the field. The most common types of impact measurement tools and evaluation models referred to by those in the inventory include:

- Quality of Life Indicators Projects
- Social Return on Investment Tools
- Asset Mapping Tools
- Social Capital Indices
- Perceptual Snapshots
- Participants' & Stakeholders' Feedback

In this section, you will find a variety of projects that incorporate some or a combination of the above models and tools.

Individuals vs. Institutions:

This report contains an expansive inventory of institutions in the public, private, and voluntary sector that are contributing to advancing and supporting the communities agenda in Canada. It does not identify the individuals whose leadership, skills, perseverance, instincts, and vision have had tremendous impact in this field, over the past five years. They are

- Community Developers
- Neighbourhood/Community Association Leaders
- Human Services Staff and Volunteers
- Researchers
- Grant-makers
- Policy Makers
- Journalists
- Politicians

Building Cohesion among the Communities Agenda Players:

As you read through the profiles in the inventory and reflect on those others that you are aware of, you will see that Canada is not lacking in action, research, resources, programs, and policies to support and advance the communities agenda. What is needed is a vehicle to connect and convene those institutions and individuals working in this field to develop common language and to:

- Share experiences
- Access resources
- Improve practice
- Facilitate collaboration
- Develop collective research agenda
- Co-ordinate public policy participation

Building upon this inventory:

There are some networks and associations that have had considerable success in bringing together individuals and institutions with common interests around research, practice, or policy. A next step may be to contact those in the inventory to ask them:

- Where do you go for training?
- What are your top ten websites?
- What associations or networks do you belong to?
- Who else do you work with?

Further Analysis:

We may also want to deepen our understanding of the initiatives in the inventory as most of the information was derived from static sources. Further analysis of the individual profiles and the inventory as a whole could be based on elements such as:

- Geographic reach of initiative
- Profile and network capital
- Partnerships and alliances
- Degree of integration (of complex social issues)
- Multi-sector engagement
- Local leadership capacity

Methodology and Limitations of Inventory:

As noted earlier, this inventory is not comprehensive, the information was drawn largely from websites, reports, and newsletters, and the quality and impact of the initiatives included were not investigated. We want to apologize for any inaccurate information and for the many other worthwhile initiatives that do not appear in the inventory. It is our hope that this will be a dynamic document that serves as a foundation for further work in this area.

Name of initiative	ACORN Canada
Mandate	A member-driven, national non-profit organization that represents low- and moderate-income Canadians on the critical issues of social and economic justice. ACORN has a simple premise: harnessing the involvement and developing the leadership capacities of low-income people improves the effectiveness of efforts to improve their communities.
Focus regarding communities agenda	ACORN Canada believes that transforming the conditions that adversely affect millions of Canadians can best be achieved with an active national membership – members deeply invested in their organization and focused clearly on lasting change. At present ACORN Canada and its ten membership chapters in Toronto, Ontario and Surrey and New Westminister, British Columbia are working on the issues of predatory lending, tenants' rights, and crime and safety.
Activities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Predatory Lending Campaign: ACORN Canada members are concerned about the criminal interest rates charged by the unregulated payday lending industry.</li> <li>• Sherwin-Williams Lead Paint Campaign: ACORN members are demanding that Sherwin-Williams establish a lead remediation fund in every high impact city in Canada.</li> </ul>
Sources of funding	Membership fees, foundations, labour unions, grassroots fundraising
Scope	National (current chapters in Toronto, Ottawa, Surrey and New Westminister, British Columbia)

Name of initiative	Action for Neighbourhood Change
---------------------------	--

Mandate	Action for Neighbourhood Change is a unique learning initiative that explored and assessed approaches to locally-driven neighbourhood revitalization that can enhance the capacity of individuals and families to build and sustain strong, healthy communities. The overarching priority for ANC is to undertake strategic action research (Plan – Act – Reflect) in order to learn to facilitate improved living conditions for individuals and families. This innovative, fast paced project is the result of a partnership between: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• United Way of Canada - Centraide Canada</li> <li>• The Caledon Institute of Social Policy</li> <li>• Tamarack - An Institute for Community Engagement</li> <li>• The National Film Board</li> </ul>
Focus regarding communities agenda	Working with local residents, not-for-profit agencies and public and private sector partners, Action for Neighbourhood Change combines local resources in new ways to develop creative locally-based solutions for sustainable community development and neighbourhood revitalization.
Activities	Action for Neighbourhood Change took place in the cities of Surrey, Regina, Thunder Bay, Toronto and Halifax. Neighbourhood sites were selected by the local United Way in consultation with residents, community leaders, government and key community organizations. Based on the results of this learning initiative, Action for Neighbourhood Change may be expanded to a number of additional communities.
Sources of funding	ANC was funded through the collaboration of five federal departments: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Human Resources and Skills Development Canada: The National Homelessness Initiative, Office of Learning Technologies</li> <li>• National Literacy Secretariat</li> <li>• Health Canada: Canada's Drug Strategy</li> <li>• Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Canada</li> <li>• National Crime Prevention Strategy</li> </ul>

Name of initiative	Canadian Cooperative Association
Mandate	CCA provides leadership to promote, develop, and unite co-operatives and credit unions for the benefit of people in Canada and around the world.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Building Community Assets-the Co-operative Advantage <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The project is now complete and a range of new materials are now available for policy makers, co-operative organizations, low-income groups, CED and community –based organizations, and anyone interested fighting poverty in Canada.</li> <li>• The policy framework, Building Assets in Low- income Communities through Co-operatives: A Policy Framework, contains new analysis on how co-ops help build both personal and community assets. It also makes recommendations for policy and program action by all three levels of government, the co-operative sector, and community –based groups.</li> <li>• The Next Step belongs to us all. The Canadian Co-operative Association believes that the co-operative model is a powerful tool in the fight against poverty. Increased use of the co-op model in low-income communities will depend on a more supportive policy context, increased resources, and the co-operation of many stakeholders.</li> </ul>
Activities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• For over a quarter century, CCA has assisted co-operatives of all types and descriptions in over 40 countries through our International Development Program, designed and managed with the complete involvement of local co-operative partners.</li> <li>• Through co-operatives, CCA works to reduce poverty. Our work helps people to provide themselves with food, with education, with shelter, and with higher levels of income.</li> <li>• CCA also supports co-op development in Canada.</li> <li>• Our Government Affairs &amp; Public Policy (GAPP) unit analyzes and influences federal government strategies, policies, legislation, and regulations to ensure that the needs of co-operatives are met.</li> <li>• CCA provides a common table where co-operatives and credit unions across Canada come together around issues unique to them. CCA is currently focusing on two knowledge areas - democratic governance and leadership and community involvement strategies.</li> </ul>

Name of initiative	Atkinson Charitable Foundation, The Canadian Index of Wellbeing (CIW)
Mandate	To provide Canadians with a clear, valid, and regular accounting of the things that matter to them and to the genuine progress of Canada. We want to create a new tool that will account honestly and accurately for changes in our human, social, economic and natural wealth.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Through the CIW, we seek to help foster a common vision for the future of Canada, one that can be used as a basis for improving the health and wellbeing outcomes that matter to Canadians. The CIW will be built around powerful indicators that count and measure the extent to which we are realizing our values and goals as a society and whether we are leaving the world a better place for our children.
Activities	The objectives of the Canadian Institute for Wellbeing include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ongoing research and development on indicators;</li> <li>• Sponsorship of research and dissemination of findings;</li> <li>• Developing and maintaining an effective national and international network of researchers, policy experts and community, regional, provincial, and federal stakeholders.</li> </ul> The team is developing a set of indicators that will monitor progress in seven areas, or domains. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Living Standards</li> <li>• Time Allocation</li> <li>• Healthy Populations</li> <li>• Ecosystem Health</li> <li>• Educated Populace</li> <li>• Community Vitality</li> <li>• Civic Engagement</li> </ul>

Name of initiative	Caledon Institute of Social Policy
Mandate	Underlying Caledon's work is the quest for a new architecture of social policy – for cost-effective solutions to the difficult problems created by our aging population, insecure labour market and rapid pace of social change. Caledon believes passionately in the enduring need for strong social policy to fight poverty, ensure social and economic security and achieve social justice. But Caledon also believes that fundamental changes in the economy and society demand equally fundamental reforms to social programs. A strong economy requires strong social policy and vice versa . Caledon emphasizes the vital links between social and economic policy, and its proposals are based on what can be achieved.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Caledon's work covers a broad range of social policy areas including income security, community capacity-building, taxation, social spending, employment development services, social services, disability supports and health.
Activities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Rigorous, high-quality research and analysis</li> <li>• Seeks to inform and influence public opinion and to foster public discussion on poverty and social policy</li> <li>• Develops and promotes concrete, practicable proposals for the reform of social programs at all levels of government and of social benefits provided by employers and the voluntary sector</li> <li>• Produces brief commentaries and both popular and technical reports and books; contributes articles to the op ed pages of major newspapers, to journals and to books</li> <li>• Publishes papers and commentaries written by other leading thinkers in the fields of social and economic policy</li> <li>• Comments frequently in the media on social policy issues</li> </ul>
Sources of funding	Maytree Foundation, charitable donations, contract projects for governments and nongovernmental organizations on the basis that such work advances Caledon's research agenda.

Name of initiative	The Maytree Foundation
Mandate	The Maytree Foundation was established in 1982 to combat systemic poverty in Canada. Maytree views immigration and urbanization as powerful elements in the Canadian landscape, and works to accelerate the settlement of refugees and immigrants in large urban centres. Maytree also works to strengthen the vibrancy of civil society by supporting the development of strong leaders and organizations. We believe that government must be a vital partner in creating community solutions and building an equitable society. We also believe that public policy can provide the leverage of scale and power to address systemic social problems and so we work with governments, organizations and individuals to propose 'policy ready' solutions.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Guided by the principle that communities have the potential to resolve their own problems
Activities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Makes grants to charitable organizations in order to support and sustain important capacity building and solution-seeking efforts for community issues and problems</li> <li>• Provides loans and scholarships to skilled immigrants and refugees for training and post-secondary pursuits</li> <li>• Supports and operates learning and leadership opportunities that empower communities to solve their problems</li> <li>• Collaborates and convenes to find effective solutions as it brings people together with knowledge and differing perspectives</li> </ul>

Name of initiative	The Winnipeg Partnership Agreement
Mandate	Developed in collaboration with Winnipeg residents, the WPA ensures that the three levels of government offer a single access window that strengthens and supports long-term, sustainable community and economic development. The WPA's vision is for Winnipeg to be "A vibrant, prosperous and healthy city that values diversity and provides all of its citizens opportunities for full participation in the economy and society".
Focus regarding communities agenda	The WPA is, as a community, using community resources to revitalize its neighbourhoods and downtown core, supporting community-based solutions to the economic and social challenges of Aboriginal people living in Winnipeg, promoting innovative and technology-based initiatives that contribute to a better Winnipeg, and ensuring a healthy and vibrant Winnipeg where all citizens can access and contribute to a full range of economic and social opportunities.
Activities	As described in the Winnipeg Partnership Agreement's framework, the Agreement focuses on four core component programs: Aboriginal Participation; Building Sustainable Neighbourhoods; Downtown Renewal; and Supporting Innovation and Technology. To ensure the greatest possible flexibility and to enhance co-ordination and collaboration, each component program identifies broad objectives, potential approaches to achieving those objectives, and examples of projects that may be funded.

Name of initiative	Canadian Index of Wellbeing (Atkinson Foundation)
Mandate	The Canadian Index of Wellbeing (CIW) seeks to provide Canadians with a clear, valid, and regular accounting of the things that matter to them and the genuine progress of Canada. The CIW is being developed as a tool to account honestly and accurately for changes in our human, social, economic and natural wealth through a new index that can best capture the full range of factors that determine wellbeing in Canada.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Through the CIW we want to help foster a common vision for the future of Canada, one that can be used as a basis for improving health and wellbeing outcomes that matter to Canadians.
Activities	Indicators are developed in the following domains: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Living Standards</li> <li>• Time allocation</li> <li>• Healthy Populations</li> <li>• Ecosystem Health</li> <li>• Education Populace</li> <li>• Community Vitality</li> <li>• Civic Engagement</li> </ul>

Name of initiative	Federation of Canadian Municipalities Quality of Life Indicators Reporting System
Mandate	Developed by FCM, the Quality of Life Reporting System (QOLRS) measures, monitors and reports on the quality of life in Canadian urban municipalities using data from a variety of national and municipal sources.  Starting with 16 municipalities in 1999, the QOLRS has grown to include 22 municipalities, comprising some of Canada's largest urban centres and many of the suburban municipalities surrounding them.
Focus regarding communities agenda	The first QOL report in 1999 looked at the social effects of the economic recession of the early 1990s. The second report in 2001 examined the beginning of the economic recovery in the second half of the 1990s. The 2003 report focused on the growing gap between those at the top and bottom of the income scale in the participating cities. A Highlights Report in 2004 took a look at six quality of life factors in 20 Canadian municipalities from 1991 to 2001, and a second report that year examined incomes, shelter and necessities. The following year (2005) saw two theme reports: Dynamic Societies and Social Change, and Growth, the Economy and the Urban Environment.
Activities	Within each of the following domains, 4-6 indicators have been developed: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Affordable and Appropriate Housing</li> <li>• Civic Engagement</li> <li>• Community and Social Infrastructure</li> <li>• Education</li> <li>• Employment</li> <li>• Local Economy</li> <li>• National Environment</li> <li>• Personal and Community Health</li> <li>• Personal Financial Security</li> <li>• Personal Safety</li> </ul>
Sources of funding	Each municipality funds their own Quality of Life Indicators project through city budget and local funders. The Federation's work is funded through a federal government funding, and members' fees.

Name of initiative	Genuine Progress Index Atlantic (GPI Atlantic) Community GPI
Mandate	GPIAtlantic's vision is that decisions made by governments, businesses and other organizations in Nova Scotia, Canada, and around the world, are based on criteria that properly value social, economic and environmental assets.
Focus regarding communities agenda	GPIAtlantic's mission is to conduct research on the Genuine Progress Index , which measures environmental, economic and social progress and wealth, and to assist leaders in business, government and communities in using the GPI perspective in their decision-making
Activities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the development of indicators and measures of progress.</li> <li>• assessments of the economic value of non-market social and environmental assets not generally valued in the conventional economic statistics.</li> </ul> It is at the level of local community that "the rubber really hits the road" in terms of quality of life. Name of initiative	Social Capital Partners-Social Return on Investment (Measurement Tools)
Mandate	Social Capital Partners -invests in social enterprises that employ populations outside the economic mainstream in Canada.The goal of these social enterprises is to acquire scale, to exist without external subsidy, and to create improved social outcomes and financial self-sufficiency for the populations they employ.SCP also hopes to encourage and catalyze other innovative funding mechanisms for social initiatives. Social Return on Investment (Measurement Tools) Our belief – or theory of change – is that once people are taken from a (sole) reliance on government funding and are employed in a social enterprise, they become contributors to society through their income taxes. This factor forms the basis for our ‘net benefit to society after employment’ part of our calculation.
Focus regarding communities agenda	What SROI analysis attempts to do, is to measure the monetary value associated with providing a job to someone who is receiving government assistance. The numerator represents this societal change and the denominator is the cost to make that change:  <math display="block">\frac{\text{Net Cost to Society Before Employment} + \text{Net Benefit to Society After Employment}}{\text{Total Investment}}</math>
Activities	There are three main components to the denominator: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Money secured through grant financing because of social mission (if applicable);</li> <li>2. the operational loss (or minus operational profit) for same fiscal period; plus</li> <li>3. any additional money secured and spent on social support infrastructure for the target employee base (e.g. social support worker, coaching, training, employee savings program)</li> </ol> <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The other important investment piece inherent in this model relates to the costs of Additional Social Support Infrastructure (SSI) provided for the target employee group. These costs will vary depending on a number of variables such as <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• target employee profile</li> <li>• whether the social enterprise was launched independently or as a division of an existing social service agency;</li> <li>• age and stage of the social enterprise;</li> <li>• availability of resources; and</li> <li>• stated social mission intentions (e.g. job quality, training provided, employee benefits)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

Name of initiative	Sustainable Calgary (State of our City Report)
Mandate	Through a series of community consultations held in 1998 Sustainable Calgary determined that Calgarians consider a strong sense of community to be a vital contributor to their quality of life and to the city's sustainability. Subsequently, Sense of Community was adopted as an "indicator in progress" in Sustainable Calgary's 2001 State of our City Report, and designated a priority action for sustainability. Working with numerous partners, Sustainable Calgary supported research to develop a sense of community assessment tool.
Focus regarding communities agenda	The result of this collaborative process are the State of Our City Reports. They are published generally every three years and are used to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• inform Calgarians of our progress toward sustainability;</li> <li>• create a focal point for discussion of sustainability issues in general and to raise these issues to a higher level of public debate;</li> <li>• provide an educational tool that can be used by teachers, private and public decision makers as well as community organizations;</li> <li>• monitor issues, actions and policies that impact the sustainability and quality of life in Calgary;</li> <li>• provide a basis for action and to influence policy, planning and community processes;</li> <li>• and demonstrate links among economic, social and ecological indicators.</li> </ul>
Activities	There were five dimensions within which indicators were developed: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Community Indicators</li> <li>2. Economic Indicators</li> <li>3. Educational Indicators</li> <li>4. National Environment</li> <li>5. Wellness</li> </ol> It is within the first cluster that the Sense of Community Indicators were developed which track things such as festival participation, volunteer rates, familiarity with neighbours, community pride...

Name of initiative	Vital Signs
Mandate	Vital Signs is an annual community check-up conducted by community foundations across Canada that measures the vitality of our cities, identifies significant trends, and assigns grades in at least ten areas critical to quality of life. Vital Signs is based on a project of the Toronto Community Foundation and is coordinated nationally by Community Foundations of Canada . Each city's report card data is a compilation of numerous research sources, much of it local, that help communities make connections between issues and trends in different areas. The findings are presented in a reader friendly format to make them as accessible as possible.
Focus regarding communities agenda	Community foundations are well-suited to this kind of work because of the broad role we play in our communities. Community foundations work with a wide range of community groups - not just one charity or sector. This gives us a comprehensive view of local issues and the ability to make connections between various needs and issues.
Activities	Measuring the vitality of Canadian communities in critical areas will help community foundations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Increase the effectiveness of our grantmaking</li> <li>• Better inform our donors about issues and opportunities in the community</li> </ul> Although each community will choose to measure different things according to their unique characteristics, Vital Signs communities have agreed upon ten common "Core Indicators": <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. Income Gap</li> <li>2. Safety</li> <li>3. Health</li> <li>4. Environment</li> <li>5. Work</li> <li>6. Learning</li> <li>7. Housing</li> <li>8. Getting Started</li> <li>9. Arts and Culture</li> <li>10. Belonging and Leadership</li> </ol>
Sources of funding	The J.W. McConnell Family Foundation provided critical support for the national expansion of the Vital Signs program.

National Programs:

Canada's Performance -- Canada's Performance 2002 is the Treasury Board of Canada's most recent report on quality of life. These annual reports measure Canada's progress using 19 societal indicators grouped under four themes: health; economy; environment; and communities. The project provides a way to assess the performance of federal government programs, with information about each indicator, easy-to-read graphs, and links to relevant sites <http://www.tbs-sct.gc.ca/report/govrev/02/cp-rc\_e.asp>.

Conference Board -- The Conference Board of Canada's annual Performance and Potential report assesses Canada's social and economic performance and relates the country's quality of life to decisions on public revenue spending and investment in Canada's future. The report assesses the economy, labour market, innovation, the environment, education and skills, and health and society <<http://www.conferenceboard.ca>>.

Social Development -- The Canadian Council on Social Development's Personal Security Index includes 20 indicators of economic security, health and physical safety. A data index, comprising 11 indicators, measures changes in people's objective circumstances. A perception index, comprising nine indicators, reflects the feelings of Canadians as captured in a national opinion survey. Comparing the two highlights the differences between objective circumstances and people's perceptions of those circumstances <<http://www.ccsd.ca>>.

Sustainable Development -- The International Institute for Sustainable Development offers technical assistance and training to governments, communities, and corporations on how to select, measure, use, and report indicators that integrate environmental, economic, and social values <<http://iisd.ca>>.

Canada -- The 2000 federal budget included $9 million for Environment Canada and the National Roundtable on the Environment and the Economy (NTREE) to develop a focused set of sustainable development indicators that are "credible, relevant, and well-accepted" <<http://www.nrtee-trnee.ca>>.
